

CLAY IN THE CLASSROOM

Children at Allanson Street Primary have recently enjoyed working with artist Vivien Dean who taught them how to manipulate clay to create a range of work which emphasised the importance of individuality and identity in art. The completed work will form a display in the main entrance of the school.

Year five children have benefited from rugby training with Saints coaches during the past month. All of the children enjoyed the experience and joined in with great enthusiasm. Year six children enjoyed visiting the Saints ground and were thrilled to see their favourite players training. They also received free tickets to see a match.
